Tile Backer Board

GREY, HEAT-CURED ACRYLIC SURFACE COATING

The grey coating on the tile application side of DensShield Tile Backer is a multi-coat, heat-cured, copolymer acrylic that provides a moisture barrier that stops water and retards moisture at the surface. This coating also serves as an ideal bondable surface for a variety of tile setting mortars and mastics. Because of this coating, no additional moisture barrier is required or recommended behind DensShield Tile Backer to protect the wall cavity.

FIBREGLASS MATS ON BOTH SIDES OF PANEL

To add strength and rigidity, the core has fibreglass mats on both sides of the panel that are impregnated into the panel in the manufacturing process. This construction, combined with the tilside acrylic coating, eliminates the possibility of delamination associated with paper-faced gypsum board. The added strength also means that DensShield Tile Backer can be fastened either vertically or horizontally to the supporting framing members, which can result in fewer joints.

MOISTURE RESISTANT TREATED CORE

The high-performance, moisture-resistant core of DensShield Tile Backer is specially treated to add further moisture protection. The specially engineered core doesn't allow DensShield Tile Backer panels to wick moisture like competing cement board products.

DensShield® Waterproof Tile Backer Board is suitable for commercial and residential use and has been tested, appraised and certified by BRANZ and meets the below performance of the BCA

National Construction Code series (NCC 2019)
- Building code of Australia (BCA)

BCA Volume 1—Class 2 to 9 Buildings
Part F1—Damp and Weatherproofing
BCA Volume 2—Class 1 and 10 Buildings
Part 2.4—Health and Amenity

Meets and exceeds AS3740-2010
